

Michael Replogle, SAG.AEA.

Director

Professional Musical Theatre & Actors Studio

Bio

Mr. Replogle has worked professionally for 28 years in film, stage, television and radio. His credits include NBC, ABC, Tri-star Pictures, Pipeline, and A. Shane Productions. Stage credits include regional theatres such as The Kennedy Center, Mill Mountain, MacHaydn, Signature, Roundhouse, American Century, Keegan Theatre and two national tours. He has also worked on over 30 books on tape for Potomac Talking Books/The Cutting Corporation. Mr. Replogle has served as Artistic and Program Director for several theatres and programs in the Washington, D.C. area, most notably for Roundhouse Summer Teen Institute and Adventure Theatre. He serves as Founding Artistic Director for the City of Fairfax Theatre Company, opening its first production in the summer of 2009. He has directed over 70 professional and community theatre productions in his career. Mr. Replogle studied at Uta Hagen's HB Studio and Colliers in New York City and with Pat Sheppard in Los Angeles.