Dear Students,

The American Nature Tours Society would like to invite you to become a stop on our popular Insect Tours. Creepy crawly things fascinate many people, including children. Currently, we offer tours to CricketLand, Roach Resort, Butterfly World and Spider Central. We are looking for a group that is interested in putting together Ant City. We envision that this popular tourist site would include many fun-filled activities for the visitors.

The first thing you need to do is make a plan of what Ant City might look like. Using poster board design a map of your classroom and think about where you might set up an area for games, display of facts, art gallery, ant snacks, a live ant farm and an Internet center with ant websites.

Then you need to get to work learning all about ants. You will become an ant expert and the visitors will be looking to you for information. Your teacher will collect things for Ant City as you study about these fascinating insects. When you are almost done, it'll be time to set up the Ant City in your classroom and invite the tourists for a visit.

If you are interested in creating an Ant City, just let your teacher know and she will inform us when it is complete. Then we can add it to our advertisements. We'll call it an "Ant-vertisement."

Very sincerely yours,

Dr. B. Hive
