

Dear Students of Trailer 1,

I can't tell you how impressed I was with your totem poles. Your spokespeople did a fine job representing each group. I could tell by listening to them and looking at the totem poles that you really understood about the food, shelter, occupation and habitats of each Native American tribe. It was quite impressive. I always enjoy visiting classrooms and talking with students.

I brought back the pictures that Mrs. Widmaier took for me and showed them to the committee. Unfortunately, they did not pick your totem poles to go in the museum but there will still be exciting things to see at the grand opening. Also, I am happy to report that I talked to your art teacher, Mrs. Bannon, after visiting with you in your trailer. She assured me that the totem poles will be displayed at the Kings Park and Kings Glen Art show on April 28th.

Watch for the date of the museum grand opening in the Washington Post. Hope to see you at the museum in the future. Keep up the good work in school.
