

Party Quirks

In this game, a player is picked to be the host of a party and everyone else is a guest. The guests enter, each exhibiting a strange quirk. The host must guess what the quirks are once he/she has figured out all of the quirks. Examples of some guests quirks are—a neat freak, deathly afraid of bugs, a clutz, or a debater!

Improv Tips!

- 1) When performing improvisation, just say the first thing that comes to mind! Don't think about what you are going to say in advance.
- 2) Don't be shy; just relax!
- 3) Confusion at this stage is normal, so don't worry.
- 4) After you've started an idea, keep going with it. Don't say "wait!" or "I've messed up!!"
- 5) Pay great attention to what everyone else is doing or saying, so you can make a believable spontaneous response.
- 6) Never give one word answers; it stops the dialogue because there's little for the responder to work with.
- 7) Laugh and have fun!! :)]

Charge Up Your Creativity with

Improv Games!

Prepared by
Nora Udler
Bruna Blauth

Advanced Multimedia Productions
Luther Jackson Middle School

What is Improv?

Improvisation is spontaneous, make-it-up-as-you-go acting, usually with no script and minimal to no preparation.

Improvisation requires a good imagination, and the quick thinking ability to engage in on the spot response.

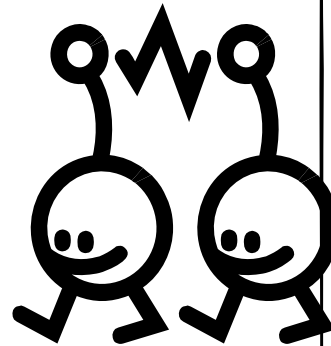

To help you to improve your improv skills, here are some theatre games.

These games are sure to boost your confidence, motivate you to think with more originality, and stimulate your imagination.

Evil Twin

Evil Twin is a game consisting of four players who break up into two teams of two players each. One person is the good twin, and one is the evil twin. After a scenario is selected, the good twin begins the scene. At any given time, the evil twin can shout out "freeze," and then take the good twin's place.

The evil twin always causes problems, which the good twin must come in at the call of "freeze" and fix. "freeze" can be called often.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Choose a person to become the "MC". Everyone else lines up!

The MC names a famous person or character, and the first contestant must think fast to come up with an idea about what the character's famous last words could be! You could get ideas from a role in a movie the person have starred in, or how they act in public.

This game really requires you to think on the spot!

Here is an example:

MC: Dory, from "Finding Nemo!"

Player:

"Just keep swimming."

