

Autism Acceptance Month | Week one Reflection

This week you've learned about language that you may or may not have heard or used before. Consider the following questions:

- What is coming up for you as you reflect on what you've learned this week?
- What language are you most familiar with and comfortable using?
- What new ideas, thoughts, or questions do you have after learning more about this language?
- How do you think this information will inform your thinking and your language moving forward?
- How might you bring this back to your teams and continue your reflection and learning?
