Family Engagement Survey

Results and Analysis

Fairfax County Public Schools
School Year: 2018-2019

Purpose & Details of the Study

Research tells us that families have a major influence on their children's achievements through school and through life. When schools build partnerships with families, respond to their concerns, and honor their contributions, they promote a range of benefits for students, including improved school readiness, higher student achievement, better social skills and behavior, and increased likelihood of high school graduation.

The Fairfax County Public Schools Family Engagement Survey asked parents for feedback on their involvement and engagement at their child's school.

K12 Insight partnered with division staff members to develop the survey, which addressed the following topics:

- Welcoming environment
- Communication
- Student success
- Advocacy
- Family and school partnerships
- Collaboration with the community

Understanding the Results

This survey was open from March 24 to April 14.
Email invitations with unique survey links were sent to parents. Parents also could participate via a public link on the division's website. Paper surveys were available on request. Parents with children attending more than one division school could take the survey for each school.

The survey was translated into Spanish, Korean, Chinese, Arabic, Vietnamese, Farsi, Urdu, and Amharic.
Reminders were sent March 28 and April 3, 9, and 12.
This report summarizes survey results and breaks them down by school level. Results do not reflect random sampling; therefore, they should not be generalized to all parents of students in Fairfax County Public Schools. Rather, results reflect only the perceptions and opinions of survey participants.

The findings for each item exclude participants who did not answer. In charts and graphs, data labels less than 5 percent are not shown. Percentages may not total 100 due to rounding.

Key Insights

- $83 \%$ of participating parents indicated they were respected or very respected at their child's school and $81 \%$ indicated their child was respected or very respected at their school.
- The welcoming environment dimension had the highest percentage of agree and strongly agree responses at $87 \%$. However, there was a modest difference between school levels, from $83 \%$ for participating middle school parents to $90 \%$ for participating elementary school parents.
- $75 \%$ of participating middle school parents and $76 \%$ of participating high school parents agreed or strongly agreed that school leaders inspire families to be active participants in the school community.
- $92 \%$ of participating parents agreed or strongly agreed that their school welcomes families of different backgrounds and cultures, that they feel welcome at their child's school, and that their child feels safe at school.
- The collaboration with the community dimension had the lowest percentage of agree and strongly agree responses at $66 \%$.
- $68 \%$ of participating parents agreed or strongly agreed that they receive enough information from their child's school about community services that help families.
- $63 \%$ agreed or strongly agreed that the school provides them with opportunities to connect with other families.
- Though 72\% of participating elementary school parents agreed or strongly agreed that the school provides them with opportunities to connect with other families, only $48 \%$ of participating middle school parents said they feel the same.

Key Insights (Continued)

- Items related to partnering with schools on their child's education had a negative impact on engagement.
- 70\% of participating parents agreed or strongly agreed that the school staff works with them to develop social and emotional skills that their child can develop to be successful.
- $68 \%$ agreed or strongly agreed the school works with them to make key decisions about their child's education
- $60 \%$ agreed or strongly agreed that the school encourages parents and educators to share information such as student strengths and learning preferences.
- $63 \%$ of participating parents agreed or strongly agreed that they receive enough information about what they can do at home to help their child improve their learning.
$41 \%$ of participating parents indicated they did not know if workshops offered by their school were informative. This high percentage of don't know responses were likely given by parents who have not attended the workshops.
