Important Note: The investment fee analysis reported in the table above measures only the relative fee level of your current plan offerings as compared to medians from style-specific institutional mutual fund peer universes, which Aon Investments believes is an appropriate comparison regardless of vehicle-type being utilized. Additional universe statistics including percentile distributions, averages and dollar-weighted metrics are available upon request. Determining whether an investment's expense is reasonable depends on a variety of factors including the level of returns achieved and the method with which administration and operational expenses are paid. Understanding and evaluating the total cost of plan operations, including both investment and administration fees is a critical analysis that should be completed periodically.

¹Vehicle Type Definitions: "MF" = Mutual Fund, "CIT" = Collective Investment Trust, "SA" = Separate Account, "A" = Annuity

²Expense Ratio is intended to represent a fund's total expense ratio which may include investment management fees, 12b-1 fees, custodial fees, trustee fees, revenue sharing components and/or charges for fund or plan administration.

³Institutional mutual fund fee universes were created by Aon Investments, as of June 30, 2022, using a custom proprietary methodology. Peer universe membership data has been sourced from Investment Metrics. Fund expense information has been sourced from Morningstar. Since fund expense ratios do not change frequently, Aon Investments believes this study to be a relevant comparison for up to a year, at which time it will be updated. - Across international markets, generally all the regions were strong over the quarter. All regions apart from Israel and Pacific ex-Japan posted positive returns.

- The U.S. Senate passed the debt ceiling bill with strong bipartisan support of 63-36 votes to avoid a default in the world's largest economy. Previously, the bill was passed in the House of Representatives with a margin of 314-117 votes. The agreement imposes restrictions on government spending, introduces new welfare reforms, and reins in perceived government overreach, whilst not including any new taxes.
- The Cyberspace Administration of China banned U.S.-based chipmaker Micron Technology's products, in China's biggest measure against a U.S. semiconductor group, citing "security risks to China's critical information infrastructure supply chain".
- The U.S. economy expanded by 2.0% year-on-year in the first quarter, higher than economists' forecasts of 1.4% but lower than the 2.6% recorded in the previous quarter. Increased consumer spending fueled by a strong labor market and rising wages helped offset business investment and housing declines.
- The Russell 3000 Index rose 8.4% during the second quarter and rose 16.2% on a YTD basis. Technology (18.4%) and Consumer Discretionary (10.7%) were the best performers while Telecommunication Services (-1.8%) and Utilities (-1.7%) were the worst performers.

Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Active Returns

Measures the average excess return of the portfolio relative to a benchmark. The excess return is annualized. The higher the active return, the better the portfolio's performance versus the benchmark.

Alpha

Measures nonsystematic return, or the return that cannot be attributed to the market. Thus, it can be thought of as how the manager performed if the market had no gain or loss. A positive alpha implies that the manager has added value to the return of the portfolio over that of the market.

Average Credit Quality

An average of all the credit-quality positions for the fund or underlying fund's bond holdings. The credit quality levels range from AAA (highest) to D (lowest).

Average Maturity

Average maturity is the weighted average of the dates on which the bonds held in the portfolio become due and are to be paid off.

Average Weighted Coupon

A weighted average of the coupons for all bond holdings in the fund or underlying fund's portfolio. This figure is generated by weighing each bond's rate of interest to its relative size in the portfolio.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index

This includes all publicly issued, non-convertible domestic debt of the US Government and all its agencies, all investment-grade corporate debt and all mortgage-backed securities. The minimum maturity is one year, but there is no maximum maturity. The bonds must have at least $250 million par amount outstanding.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government/Credit Bond Index

Is made up of the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government and Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Capital Credit Indices. All issues are rated investment grade or higher, have at least one year to maturity, and have an outstanding par value of at least $250 million.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government/Credit Intermediate Index

A measure of the movement of approximately 2,800 bonds from the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government/Credit index with maturities between 1 and 9.99 years. The total return calculated for the index consists of price appreciation/depreciation and income as a percentage of the original investment.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government/Credit Long Index

A measure of the movement of bonds from the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Government/Credit index with maturities greater than 9.99 years. The total return calculated for the index consists of price appreciation/depreciation and income as a percentage of the original investment.

Beta

Measures the risk level of the manager. Beta measures the systematic risk, or the return that is attributable to market movements. A beta equal to one indicates a risk level equivalent to the market. Higher betas are associated with higher risk levels, while lower betas are associated with lower risk levels.

Bottom-Up

A methodical approach to investing in which investors search for outstanding performance of individual stocks before considering the impact of economic trends. Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Consumer Price Index (CPI)

A measure of the average change in prices over time of a fixed group of goods and services. The CPI is published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Department of Labor and is released monthly. It is widely used as a cost-of-living benchmark.

Correlation

Statistical measure of the degree to which the movements of two variables are related, ranging from 1 to -1. For asset allocation purposes, mixing two assets with a correlation less than 1 results in a benefit of diversification because the two assets do not behave in exactly the same manner.

Core Investment Style

An investment approach that managers utilize by reviewing the entire universe of growth and value stocks within a market capitalization range, then choosing a combination of the most attractive of either type to create a blended portfolio with a style that is neither a pure value nor a pure growth. Core portfolio characteristics including P/E ratio, P/B ratio, and dividend yield that typically lie between growth and value portfolios.

Coupon

The interest on a debt security, e.g., a bond, the issuer promises to pay to the holder until maturity, expressed as an annual percentage of the security's face value. For example, a bond with a 10% coupon will pay $10 per $100 of the face amount per year.

Current Yield

The annual interest on a bond divided by the market price. If a $1,000 bond was bought at $800 and the annual income from the bond was $100, the current yield is $100 divided by $800, or 12½%.

Dow Jones Industrial Average

Computed by summing the prices of the stocks of 30 companies and then dividing that total by a value which has been adjusted over the years so that the index is not affected by stock splits.

Downside Risk

Estimate that a security will decline in value and the extent of the decline, taking into account the total range of factors affecting market price.

Duration

Measure of the price change of a bond to a change in its yield to maturity. It summarizes, in a single number, the characteristics that cause bond prices to change in response to a change in interest rates. The price of a bond with a duration of three years will rise by approximately 3% for each 1% decrease in its yield to maturity. That price will decrease 3% for each 1% increase in the bond's yield. Price changes for two different bonds can be compared using duration. A bond with a duration of six years will exhibit twice the percentage price change of a bond with a three year duration. The actual calculation of a bond's duration is somewhat complicated, but the idea behind the calculation is straightforward. The first step is to measure the time interval until receipt for each cash flow (coupon and principal payments) from a bond. The second step is to compute a weighted average of these time intervals. Each time interval is measured by the present value of that cash flow. This weighted average is the duration of the bond measured in years.

Excess Risk

A measure of the standard deviation of a portfolio's performance relative to the risk free return, represented by 90-Day T-Bills.

Expense Ratio

A figure that represents the percentage of fund assets paid for operating expenses and management fees, including 12b-1 fees, administrative fees, and all other asset-based costs incurred by the fund, except for brokerage costs and sales charges.

Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Fundamental Analysis

A method of analyzing the balance sheet and income statement of a company in order to forecast its future stock price movements. Analysts consider the company's past records of assets, earnings, sales, products, management, and markets in predicting future trends in these indicators of a company's success or failure.

Growth Stock

Stock of a company which is growing earnings and/or revenue faster than its industry or the overall market and is expected to continue to show high levels of profit growth and P/E multiples. Such a company usually pays little or no dividends, preferring to use the income to finance further expansion. Generally, these stocks are contrasted with value stocks that trade at lower P/E multiples.

Information Ratio

The information ratio is a measure of the consistency of excess return. This value is determined by taking the annualized excess return over a benchmark (style benchmark by default) and dividing it by the standard deviation of excess return.

Large Cap

"Large cap" refers to stock with a large capitalization, which is calculated by multiplying the number of outstanding shares times the price of the shares. Large cap stocks typically have at least $5 billion in outstanding market value.

Long-Term Earnings Growth

The long-term perspective earnings growth rate is the assetweighted average of the long-term perspective earning growth rates of all the domestic stocks in the fund's portfolio as of the date of the portfolio. Each portfolio holding is weighted by the percentage of domestic equity assets it represents, so that largest positions have proportionately greater influence on the fund's aggregate long-term earnings growth rate. Long-term prospective earnings growth rates for stocks are provided by a third party stock data vendor.

Market Capitalization

The value of a corporation as determined by the market price of its issued and outstanding common stock, calculated by multiplying the number of outstanding shares by the current market price of a share. Market capitalization may also refer to the total current value of the holdings of a mutual fund.

Maturity

Refers to the date at which a debt instrument is due and payable. A bond due to mature on January 1, 2010 will return the bondholder's principal and final interest payment when it reaches maturity on that date.

Mid Cap

"Mid cap" refers to stock with a medium capitalization, which is calculated by multiplying the number of outstanding shares times the price of the shares. Mid cap stocks typically have between $1 and $10 billion in outstanding market value.

Shares are redeemable on demand at net asset value by shareholders, who share equally in the gains and losses generated by the fund.

Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Price/Book Ratio

Price/Earnings Ratio

This is the weighted average of the price/earnings ratios of all stocks in a fund's portfolio. The P/E ratio of a stock is obtained by dividing the current price of the stock by its trailing 12 months' earnings per share.

For example, if inflation stays low consumers' spending power will be enhanced; investors may be attracted to retailing companies with the best earnings prospects in the near-term. Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Up/Down Capture

The up and down capture is a measure of how well a manager was able to replicate or improve on phases of positive benchmark returns, and how badly the manager was affected by phases of negative benchmark returns. To calculate the up capture, we first form a new series from the manager and benchmark series by dropping all time periods where the benchmark return is zero or negative. The up capture is then the quotient of the annualized return of the resulting manager series, divided by the annualized return of the resulting benchmark series. The down capture is calculated analogously.

Value Stock

A stock that is considered to be a good investment at a desirable price, based on fundamental analysis, such as its P/B and its P/E, among other criteria. Generally, these stocks are contrasted with growth stocks that trade at higher P/E multiples.
